

Abstract

The invention provides a method of shaping a dental product, comprising: shaping a curable polymerizable composition to form a shape of a dental product. The polymerizable composition is adapted to cure to form polymeric material, which at 37°C has a flexural modulus of less than 250,000 psi and a flexural strength of less than 7,000 psi.